

SIP Trunking Solutions

SIP trunking is a standards-based technology that lets you make calls over a data connection, offering you a lower cost and more flexible alternative for your business voice calls.

With fast and reliable connectivity options, it is now practical to use that connectivity for your voice traffic without an impact on quality. SIP Trunking is quick to provision, easy to scale, allows for telephone number flexibility and provides you with robust business continuity options.

A SIP Trunking Solution provides you with a highly resilient and easy to manage communication solution that can effortlessly replace conventional ISDN networks to allow you to take full advantage of the benefits of unified communications.

By adopting SIP Trunking for your organisation, you will benefit from:

- ✧ Improved mobility options.
- ✧ Enhanced call routing.
- ✧ High definition voice and video capability.
- ✧ The ability to scale for peak times.
- ✧ Automatic failover, load balancing and remote office capabilities.

Enjoy powerful communication features, increased agility, reliability and lower costs by adopting a SIP Trunking solution for your business communication needs.

SIP Trunking Benefits

- ✓ A reduction in your communication costs.
One of the most obvious benefits of adopting SIP trunking is that it is proven to deliver less costly, more reliable connectivity than ISDN over an IP connection, with savings of up to 50% on line rentals and up to 40% or more on call costs. Add free site-to-site calling and the cost benefits are even more obvious if you have multiple sites.
- ✓ Business continuity comes as standard.
SIP trunks give you the ability to reroute calls to an alternative location quickly and easily, giving you the tools to deal with disasters elegantly, protecting your reputation as well as your revenue.
- ✓ An improvement in your organisational flexibility and greater control.
You are in complete control of your business communications. You can add lines for peak times, remove them when they are not needed and move away from your reliance on expensive old, inflexible telephone system infrastructure.
- ✓ Future-proof technology.
SIP Trunking is a perfect solution for the convergence between voice and data, delivering mobility, unified communications (UC) and collaboration services while giving you enormous organisational flexibility.
